

Renting accommodation as a labour migrant

I came from Poland to do temporary work and I rented accommodation from my boss... Now there's no more work and my boss is making me leave the accommodation.

Is that allowed?

No, that's not allowed

You don't have to move out. Have you come to the Netherlands from another country in Europe to carry out temporary work? As of 1 July 2023, tenancy agreements cannot be linked to an employment contract.

Do you live in rented accommodation?

Your landlord has to follow the rules in the Landlords (Good Practices) Act. This law explains what's allowed and what's not allowed.

Since 1 July 2023, the maximum deposit is two months' basic rent*

You only need to pay service costs that are actually incurred and you must receive an overview of these costs each year

If a landlord uses a rental agency, you do not have to pay the mediation fees

Your tenancy agreement must be in writing

You must receive information in writing about your rights and obligations as a tenant

Your landlord is not allowed to intimidate you or discriminate against you

If you are a labour migrant, your landlord must follow additional rules:

Your tenancy agreement cannot be linked to your employment contract*

You must receive information in writing about your rights and obligations as a tenant in a language you understand

* Only applies to tenancy agreements entered into on or after 1 July 2023

More information

The Landlords (Good Practices) Act protects tenants and provides clarity. For more information, go to www.goedehuur.nl