

Most tenants are happy with their landlord.

Are you?

The Landlords (Good Practices) Act provides clarity about what's allowed and what's not allowed.

Since 1 July 2023, the maximum deposit is two months' basic rent*

You only need to pay service costs that are actually incurred and you must receive an overview of these costs each year

If a landlord uses a rental agency, you do not have to pay the mediation fees

Your tenancy agreement must be in writing*

You must receive information in writing about your rights and obligations as a tenant.

Your landlord is not allowed to intimidate you or discriminate against you

If you are a labour migrant, your landlord must follow additional rules:

Your tenancy agreement cannot be linked to your employment contract*

You must receive information in writing about your rights and obligations as a tenant in a language you understand

* Only applies to tenancy agreements entered into on or after 1 July 2023

More information? The Landlords (Good Practices) Act gives landlords clarity and offers tenants protection. For more information, go to www.goedehuur.nl

The municipality can help. If you have an issue you can't resolve with your landlord, you can report the situation to the municipality.

